Tractor Trailer Accident Hold Up Traffic On South High street

A tractor trailer accident involving a flatbed that appeared to be loaded with lumber held up traffic for quite some time on South High Street in Waynesboro on Monday. Many have commented that some commercial drivers attempt to use these smaller side streets in order to avoid the square and/or school traffic. Unfortunately, these side streets are simply not designed for these loaded commercial trucks.

It was reported that South High Street was cleared by 9:48 a.m. on Monday.

James Yeiser Ross, Sr. Is Candidate For Re-election As General Sessions Judge

I, James Yeiser Ross, Sr., would like to take this opportunity to announce my candidacy for re-election as Wayne County General Sessions Judge. As many of you know, I am married to a beautiful and wonderful lady, Amanda Horton Ross, and we have three (3) children, Yeiser, Crews and Kinsley which we love beyond measure. My family and I, as well as my mother, Catherine Ross, along with my Father and Mother-in-law, Robert and Jan Horton, live in Wayne County, Tennessee. I graduated from Savannah Central High School in Savannah, Tennessee, in 1979. I went to college at Middle Tennessee State University in Murfreesboro, Tennessee, and graduated, receiving a Bachelor's Degree in Political Science, in 1983. Carol Warren Announces Candidacy For Circuit Court Clerk

I, Carol Warren, would like to announce my candidacy for the office of Circuit Court Clerk of Wayne County in the August 4, 2022 County election.

My journey began at the Wayne County Circuit Court Clerk's office in 2007. I knew upon being hired that I had found my place and became very passionate about my position. I served as a Deputy Clerk in General Sessions, Circuit, and Juvenile Civil and Criminal Courts under the direction of Mr. Bill Crews who is retiring this year. I learned the basic fundamentals of a Deputy Clerk, preparing court dockets, cost bills, collecting court fines and costs, and building a great working relationship with all involved in the judiciary system, including Judges, District Attorney General's Office, Public Defender's Office, Wayne County Sheriff's Department, Bonding Companies, Wayne County Probation, driving and drug school, as well as private attorneys and co-workers in the office. I was added to book-keeper in 2015. The Circuit Court Clerk collects all fines, court costs, and litigation taxes for the Court system. My experience in this office gives me direct knowledge of the importance of accounting for this money properly. In addition, I am aware of the many agencies and offices that the Circuit Court Clerk corresponds with regularly and the need to communicate with them effectively. Online payment began in our office from Courtfeepay.com. in 2020, a great move by Mr. Crews.

After working as an employee for 15 years I would like to take my experiences and become the Circuit Court Clerk of Wayne County. I seek this position as a public servant and out of love for this office to serve the County diligently to keep our systems updated. I will continue to make improvements and strive to make the office the best and most efficient in the state.

I live on highway 13 North of Waynesboro where I have lived most of my life. I'm just a country girl at heart. My parents were the late Clyde and Marie White Pope. I have three brothers, N.J., Donnie, and Ronnie Pope, and one sister, Linda Blackwell, and they all live in Wayne County. I am married to Richard D. Warren, the son of the late Alton Lee and Shirley Eads Warren of Waynesboro, Tennessee. Richard is employed with Roger's Group Inc. as an Asphalt Superintendent. We have one daughter Crystal Ray (Tim), and one son Eric Warren (Shelley). We have four grandchildren, Callie Ray Scoggin (John), Chloe Warren, Lacey Ray, and Urijah Warren. We are truly blessed to have all our family in the county.

I attend Phillips Chapel Church. I love my Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. I serve as Secretary/Treasurer for our church family.

I would like to ask for your VOTE and support for the office of Circuit Court Clerk on August 4, 2022. Thank you and May God Bless You.

On Sunday, February 27th, 2022, Floyd Rodale Lang departed this life at the age of 47 years, 3 months and 23 days in Jersey City, N.J. A man as tough and as nurturing as the ground he walked, eventually setting roots in Clifton, TN. Born to Fred Lang and Robin (Hancock) Lang on November 4th, 1974 in Hillsboro, Illinois. Floyd spent much of his childhood alongside his grandmother Valeria Hancock and grandfather, Ross Hancock, from whom he drew much inspiration as to the person he would become; though he learned his patience and humor from Jessie Boyd, the man his mother later married and spent the rest of her life with. On November 24th, 1998, he married Gloria Jean (Tito) Lang, the love of his life for whom he would capture the Heaven and Stars. With her by his side, they would go on to raise 6 children. As his children grew, he found time after his job to develop his passions of watching the wildlife from the back porch and passing the evening with backyard family activities. He worked 14 years for CCA South Central, 12 years for Wayne County Highway Department, and his final, most enjoyable years, driving for Big M Transportation, with his Queen by his side in the passenger seat. Floyd is survived by an array of loving family. His six children; Angelo Deltesesco; Michael, Gabriel, and Dylan Lang; Chrissie Teague (husband Shawn Teague); Jessica Deltesesco. His eight grandchildren: Clara Theis; Angelo Deltesesco III; Gavin, Connor, Gamble and Logan Teague; Bentley, Weston, and Lexie Deltesesco. His brother, Josh Lang (wife Brooke Lang); with many more aunts, uncles, and cousins. All with treasured memories of a simple loving man. SENATE
 STATE OF TENNESSEE
Legislative Update From
Senator Joey Hensley, MD

Bill aims to expand access to broadband internet in rural

Legislation aimed at expanding access to broadband internet in rural communities advanced through the Commerce and Labor Committee this week.

Building on successful legislation passed in 2017, Senate Bill 2034 would allow rural electric and community services cooperatives to provide broadband services outside their service area to people who do not purchase electricity from the cooperative. Existing law makes such allowances for telephone and telecommunication service, but not broadband. The bill also includes a "good neighbor provision" ensuring cooperatives work in concert with neighboring utilities as they provide broadband service to new customers, and removes a prohibition on cooperatives providing alarm services.

These changes are sensible and the time to make them is now. Electric cooperatives are the only private companies in the state that have any type of territorial restrictions on where they can provide broadband. We need more options to get people connected not less, it only makes sense to allow our electric cooperatives the same ability as every other private company that provides broadband in our state. This bill does that and it builds on the successful strategy we implemented in 2017.

The General Assembly in 2017 passed the Tennessee Broadband Accessibility Act, which de-regulated Tennessee's electric cooperatives and allowed them to serve broadband to their electric customers. Since that time, electric cooperatives have invested hundreds of millions of dollars in broadband projects and changed the lives of tens of thousands of Tennesseans who never would've been able to access internet without their cooperative taking this bold action. Every Tennessean should be able to access the internet, not just those who live in our large cities.

Committee advances legislation addressing school staffing challenges

A bill that would help school districts across Tennessee address ongoing staffing challenges advanced through the State and Local Government Committee this week.

Senate Bill 2702 would allow retired members of the Tennessee Consolidated Retirement System (TCRS) to be reemployed as a K-12 teacher, K-12 substitute teacher, or as a K-12 bus driver without the loss or suspension of the retired member's TCRS benefits.

Teachers, substitute teachers and bus drivers are especially needed and many retirees are ready and willing to help. This bill will remove the barriers to making that happen. Currently, some retired members of TCRS can return to work but only for a maximum of 120 days. This bill would remove that limit as long as each retiree that participates is 60 or more days past their retirement date.

Legislation ensures pornography and obscene materials are blocked on school computers

Present law requires students to be prohibited from accessing pornography and other obscene materials on school computers. Senate Bill 2292, approved by the Health and Welfare Committee this week, ensures vendors that contract with schools comply with the law and take steps to block inappropriate content.

This bill is about the vendors the state signs contracts with and whether or not that vendor will abide by our state law. This just says from now on any new contracts signed going forward those companies have to prohibit our students from accessing inappropriate material.

If a provider fails to comply with the bill, then a local education agency (LEA) may withhold further payments to the provider and ultimately consider non-compliance a breach of contract.

The bill also requires each local board of education to establish a mechanism for parents to report a failure of the technology selected by the LEA to prevent access to harmful materials, and submit an annual report to the state board of education on the successes or failures of the technology. The bill, if signed into law, will apply to all future contracts.

Two bills aim to expand emergency services personnel

The Senate this week passed two bills aimed at expanding emergency services personnel in Tennessee. Senate Bill 1966 creates two new categories of emergency first responders to assist EMTs in responding to emergencies, driving ambulances and engaging in limited medical interventions. Ambulance services have seen a consistent workforce shortage before the pandemic and the shortage has increased by the pandemic. This legislation seeks to address that problem by easing barriers to joining emergency response teams. The two new classes of emergency services personnel created by the bill are an emergency medical responder (EMR) and emergency medical services - apprentice (EMS-A).

The former role successfully completed an EMR training course and has qualified by examinations to perform lifesaving interventions and to assist higher-level personnel at the scene. The latter does not possess an EMS license to provide emergency medical care in Tennessee, but meets all other requirements for operating an emergency vehicle.

The EMS-A or EMR must obtain licensure as an Emergency Medical Technician (EMT), or, in the case of an EMS-A, as an EMR, within 12 months of the EMS-A's initial employment date. Senate Bill 1908/House Bill 1956 expands a pilot program established by the General Assembly four years ago. That program allows for up to 15 EMT/AEMT training centers be operated by licensed ambulance services. This bill makes the pilot project a regular program and doubles to 30 the number of allowable training centers. The Senate also passed an amendment to the bill urging ambulance services operating such training centers to pursue partnerships to increase the capacity of the state to prepare EMTs, AEMTs and paramedics.

Bill seeks to return tax revenue to local governments

The Finance, Ways, and Means Committee advanced legislation this week that could pave the way for more than $20 million in tax revenue returning to Tennessee counties.

The state Department of Revenue has long charged a 1.125% fee to process local option sales tax. Lowering that fee to 0.5%, as has been proposed in the past, would free up an estimated $20.2 million each year that could be sent back to the counties. Such a move would allow Davidson County to reclaim $5.3 million, Hamilton County to get back $2.07 million, Rutherford County to receive $2.1 million, and Maury County to recover $563,000 each year.

Senate Bill 160 does not propose a new fee, but would require the Department of Revenue to produce a report on the cost of processing sales tax revenue. That report could then be the basis for future conversations about a potential fee change. The 1.125% processing fee was imposed in the 1960s for costs associated with handling and processing the envelopes, paper forms and paper checks collected each month from businesses across the state. The cost of such work is likely significantly lower now that computers handle it.

Ruskin Commune Made Home in Dickson County

By Bill Carey

Just when you think you've heard it all, along comes the following anecdote: Over a century ago, Dickson County was home to one of the world's most famous communes.

It was started by Julius Wayland, publisher of one of the nation's most influential socialist publications of its era. The Coming Nation, it was called, advocated the eight-hour workday, equal pay for women and the abolition of child labor - concepts that seemed a lot stranger then than they do now.

The Coming Nation also promoted the idea of a utopian industrial colony and, in 1894, some of Wayland's followers agreed to participate in such a venture. Using earnings from his newspaper, Wayland bought about a thousand acres near the Dickson County community of Tennessee City. Since the commune was based on the ideas of English social critic John Ruskin, it became known as the Ruskin Cooperative Association.

One can only imagine what Dickson County residents thought when a few hundred outsiders showed up and started building a "utopian" community. These newcomers invested some of their own money in the colony and, working together, built houses and commercial buildings and set up all sorts of enterprises. The largest of these was a new printing press for The Coming Nation, which by 1896 had a circulation of 60,000. The colony also produced pants, belts, suspenders, coffee and chewing gum.

In 1897 the colony moved to a different site about five miles away. It ran along Yellow Creek and included a cave with an enormous entrance that the colonists used as a meeting place and cannery. A few hundred feet from there, the colony built a three-story building which they used as a printer, dining room, nursery and library.

Ruskin was set up to be self-sufficient. All food was grown or raised on site and meals were served in a communal dining hall. People who lived and worked in the community were paid in scrip that could be used in exchange for goods. The value of the scrip was based on the amount of work that was done. For example, a piece of scrip that represented seven hours of work could be redeemed for a pound of coffee. Alcohol was forbidden, and health care and day care were free.

"There are 300 members of the colony and they have 1,800 acres of land," an 1899 article in the Sandusky (Ohio) Star said. "They have no officers, no public officials, have no use for law, issue their own money, have no church, have farms, some factories, raise all they have to eat and only pay money for clothing and utensils needed."

All this sounded great in theory, but the Ruskin Cooperative Association was destined to become a footnote in Tennessee history. The first sign that something was wrong occurred in 1895, when Wayland left the colony because of conflicts about ownership in the newspaper. There were also bones of contention about religion and equal rights for women, among other things.

Disputes led to a lawsuit in the summer of 1897 and, from that point on, legal problems tore the colony apart. As some members decided to leave, there were disputes about money people had originally invested in the place.

Finally, in 1899, some of the charter members tried to have the corporation dissolved. Not long after that, the Ruskin colony and most of its property were auctioned in an event attended by an estimated 1,500 people. "Hundreds of people came looking for bargains, and they found them: fine horses sold for as little as $10, mules for $9, hogs for $5," John Egerton wrote in Visions of Utopia.

Shortly thereafter, 240 of Ruskin's members moved to Georgia, merging with another utopian colony there. But this didn't work out either; the Ruskin colony completely disbanded by the fall of 1901. Most of the people who had spent money to help start the place and devoted years of their life to the cause were left with nothing to show for their efforts except a fascinating story.

The land on which the Ruskin commune existed is still rural and unspoiled. As recently as 15 years ago, Dickson County's Renaissance Center operated a day camp for kids there (which my son attended). I'm sorry to say that the day camp no longer exists. Today the Ruskin property, including the cave, is a wedding venue.

...Ladycats

On Saturday night, with snow on the ground, the Ladycats matched up in a late affair with the Lady Rebels of McKenzie. The game was opened up with an outstanding performance of the National Anthem by Senior Ladycat Jamie Lauren Hickman. The Ladycats took the lead early in the first, despite a pair of turnovers in the first minute of action. Three offensive rebounds and put backs at the 6 1/2 minute mark saw the Ladycats take a 2-0 lead on a Cambree Camfield basket. They built the lead to 13-6 before McKenzie came storming back to tie the contest at 13 all at the first quarter break. The Ladycats took a 15-13 lead on a Blair Baugus lay-up just a minute into the second quarter, but their turnovers begin to pile up and the lead disappeared. They trailed 31-23 at the half due to 15 turnovers. The margin grew to 10 in the third, but the Ladycats managed to whittle it down to five, but McKenzie went back up by eight at the end of the third. In the fourth, the Lady Rebels scored first to make it 45-35. Three consecutive turnovers by the Ladycats kept the ball on McKenzie's offensive end. A defensive rebound by Michael Gallian and outlet pass to Kenzie Griggs for a lay-up cut the margin back to 8. Blair Baugus' two free throws with 1:59 left, cut it to 6, 45-39. A Lauren Bryant 3 with 1:29 left made it a one possession game, 45-42. McKenzie went one of two from the foul line to push the score to 46-42. A missed jumper by Wayne County and defensive rebound by the Lady Rebels gave McKenzie a 1 & 1, which they missed with 19 seconds left. The Ladycats missed a pair of shots to fall by the 46-42 finals score.

The Ladycats shot 38% from the field and finished with 23 turnovers on the night. They were led in scoring by Blair Baugus with 16 points, 12 rebounds, and 1 steal. Lauren Bryant also finished with double figures with 10 points and had 3 rebounds, a steal, and an assist. Cambree Camfield scored 7 points and had 4 boards, 2 steals, and 2 assists. Michaela Gallian had 4 points, a block, a rebound, and 2 assists. Savanna McClain had 3 points with 12 rebounds, a steal, and an assist, and Kenzie Griggs had 2 points with 4 rebounds. Jac Keaton had 4 rebounds and 2 assists.

The WCHS Cheer Squad was awarded the "Sportsmanship Award" for their performance in tourney action this past week. They placed #1 out of the 8 schools participating in the Class 1A tourney! Great job cheerleaders!

Congrats Ladycats on your success! You've worked hard and overcome a lot! All four seniors will be hard to replace. "WORK HARD FUTURE LADYCATS! -BEST WISHES!"---Submitted

What Is Your Guiding Principle?

Every person has a principle which guides their life, whether that principle is explicitly recognized or not. Some people's lives are all about pleasure, while others strive to amass great wealth, and still others seek power. If we aren't sure what our guiding principle is, we need only consider what we spend most of our time thinking about. Do we spend the better part of our day thinking about how to make more money, or how to get ahead of the next guy on the corporate ladder, or do we spend most of our time thinking of how we might better serve God and our fellow man? The Reverend Billy Graham is said to have quipped, "Give me five minutes with a person's checkbook, and I will tell you where their heart is." What we spend our money on is a good indication of what we value, "for where your treasure is, there will your heart be also." (Matthew 6.21) Many people have more than one principle, in as much as they may seek both power and money, but usually one principle will be the dominant one, subordinating all others to this one. So, we must let love be our guiding principle, subordinating everything else to this one supreme principle.

But above all these things put on love, which is the bond of perfection. And let the peace of God rule in your hearts, to which also you were called in one body; and be thankful.

Eat Right for a Healthy Mouth and Teeth

It's never too soon to start caring for your children's teeth. Beginning a few days after birth, wipe the gums with a soft baby washcloth. This removes plaque that can cause decay in emerging teeth. Dental caries, or tooth decay, are little holes in the teeth caused by bacteria in the mouth. Caries thrive on the sugars and starches in our diet and produce acids that attack teeth. Fortunately, good oral hygiene and a healthy eating routine can help reduce the risk of tooth and gum problems throughout life.

What to Watch

You may already know to avoid serving foods and beverages with added sugars to children under age 2 and to limit the intake of added sugars as children get older and start eating a greater variety of foods. However, sweets aren't the only foods that can increase the risk for dental caries. When carbohydrates stay in the mouth for an extended period of time, they interact with plaque and produce acid, which may cause potential tooth decay. Some foods to be mindful of because they stay in the mouth longer include:

Sugary beverages such as sodas, fruit drinks, sports and energy drinks, and sweetened teas and coffee, especially if sipped over a long period of time.

Any foods that stick to the teeth, like caramels, dried fruit, or chips.

Lollipops and other hard candies that dissolve slowly in the mouth.

Avoid putting babies to bed with a bottle. When this happens, breast milk or formula sits on teeth and gums for long periods which causes bacteria to go to work! It's also a choking risk.

For kids that are older, limit snacking throughout the day and serve with water. Drinking water with meals and snacks, along with brushing and flossing after, helps to remove food particles and reduce the risk of cavities.

Building Good Habits

Drinking water with food — and after a meal — helps get rid of bacteria and reduces acid production. And, if your home has fluoridated water, you're getting extra protection. Fluoride is a mineral that helps resist tooth decay.

About three in four Americans live in communities with fluoridated water. Bottled waters typically don't contain optimal amounts of fluoride. If your family does not drink water with fluoride, talk to your dentist. Find out about other ways to get fluoride. For example, your dentist may need to apply a fluoride treatment to your kids' teeth. A nutritious eating plan is critical for the health of the mouth and staying healthy. But, it won't make up for poor dental hygiene. See your dentist for checkups and cleanings. And, teach your kids to brush and floss regularly.

March Gardening Tasks

Plant fruit trees or plants. Make sure to prevent bareroot stock from drying out prior to installation. They can be heeled in outdoors.

Remove straw protection from strawberry plants before bloom.

Assemble your spray materials to prepare for fruit season. Seed the remainder of warm-season transplants. Tomato transplants need 6-8 weeks, so March seeding means May transplants.

Prepare garden soil if conditions allow. Remember that if you are tilling in a cover crop, a few weeks may be needed to decompose the cover crop material.

Seed or transplant cool-season crops. Hardy cool-season crops are usually seeded or transplanted 4-6 weeks before the frost-free date, while less cold hardy cool-season crops are usually started 2 weeks prior.

Install row covers or low tunnels over early season transplants to increase day and night temperatures and support season growth.

Don't forget to harden off any transplants to reduce stress and loss once placed in the ground.

In West TN, Broccoli, cabbage, and cauliflower typically can be transplanted in Mid-March.

Lettuce can be direct seeded outdoors in West TN typically in Mid-March.

Peas & Potatoes should be seeded by late March in West TN.

Transplant Tricks of the Trade

Start with a pathogen free soilless media. Germination mixes are designed to start your seedlings off disease free. They are also designed to drain well while holding enough water to support germination and growth. Most are made from peat or coconut coir along with perlite.

Follow suggested temperatures for germination. One of the most common issues that causes poor germination is lower than ideal temperatures. Warm-season crops, such as tomatoes, peppers and eggplants, will germinate slowly when too cool and are more likely to have disease issues.

Light is critical. Most indoor locations don't have enough light to grow stocky seedlings. Watch your seedlings for color and stem thickness (are they stretching?).

Supplemental fluorescent or LED lighting can be key.

Don't overwater. Growing media should be allowed to dry out slightly (but not completely) between waterings. Air movement and light are important in managing the growing environment and drying out the media.

Pathogen of the Month: Cedar Apple Rust

Cedar apple rust is one of the most common and damaging fungal pathogens to home apple trees. It defoliates and weakens trees and has a winter home on our native eastern red cedar trees (actually Juniperus virginiana). Cedar apple rust (Gymnosporangium juniperi-virginianae) requires multiple hosts to be successful. Spores from infected apple trees can infect cedar trees. This infection produces spring galls on the cedar trees that then release another type of spore to infect young leaves on nearby apple trees (see image on left). It is a vicious cycle in many areas.

While removing nearby cedar trees can be a help, it is often not possible or effective enough. So, in the home orchard, selecting apple cultivars resistant to cedar apple rust is a great step. Additionally, careful attention to fungicide sprays early in the season when leaves are emerging, young and highly susceptible to infection are most effective. Often the best control is achieved when multiple techniques (resistance, sanitation and sprays) are used together. See extension.tennessee.edu/publications/Documents/PB1622.pdf.

Cultivate Conference: Women in Agriculture Cultivate Conference aims to help women livestock horticulture producers to Grow Themselves & Grow Their Operation with educational workshops & hands-on learning opportunities. It will be held on March 25th and 26th in Ethridge, TN. Please call our office or e-mail Megan Harris to learn more about Cultivate. 931-722-3229 or mdharris@utk.edu

March Is Autoimmune Disease Awareness Month And Women's History Month

March is Autoimmune Disease Awareness Month and Women's History Month. The two go hand-in-hand because women are disproportionately at risk of contracting autoimmune diseases. There are over 100 known autoimmune diseases. Examples of autoimmune diseases, also referred to as immune system disorders, include lupus, rheumatoid arthritis, inflammatory bowel disease (IBD), multiple sclerosis (MS), type 1 diabetes, psoriasis, Graves' disease, vasculitis, and alopecia.

According to WebMD, "Immune system disorders cause abnormally low activity or over activity of the immune system. In cases of immune system overactivity, the body attacks and damages its own tissues (autoimmune diseases)."

Autoimmune diseases are difficult to diagnose. They are often referred to as silent assassins because they are not noticeable on the outside. However, autoimmune diseases affect approximately 8% of the population, the majority of whom are women. Approximately 6.7 million women have autoimmune diseases.

Megan Clowse, M.D., a rheumatologist and associate professor of medicine at Duke University, said, "10 women have autoimmune thyroid disease for every man who does. In the case of lupus, the ratio is nine to one; for rheumatoid arthritis, three to one; and for multiple sclerosis, two to one."

Great speculation surrounds the fact that women are more susceptible to autoimmune diseases than men. Research reveals that there is often a genetic component involved; autoimmune diseases tend to run in families. However, outside factors also contribute.

Many autoimmune diseases tend to affect women during periods of hormonal stress, such as pregnancy or menopause. Clowse stated, "Women have a somewhat different immune system than men" [...] "A woman's immune system has to be more pliable to tolerate a baby." Experts have theorized the association of autoimmune diseases with the X chromosome, for the X chromosome contains more genes than the Y chromosome. A female person typically has two X chromosomes and, therefore, is at higher risk of contracting autoimmune diseases, as compared to male persons (NIH).

Although autoimmune diseases can be genetic, a person may not develop an autoimmune disease without environmental influences, such as infections, drugs, smoking, certain hair dyes and chemicals. To learn more about autoimmune diseases, there is a plethora of information that can be easily located on the internet.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor of The Wayne County News:

Here in Waynesboro is an organization called the Lions Club. The Club was established in 1937. Dr. Dexter L. Woods was the first elected president. Throughout the years, many of our citizens of Wayne County have served in the Lions Club. The Lions organization helps with all people throughout our county that cannot afford to get eyeglasses. These people receive applications at one of the banks in town and can return them to the banks or to Dad's Pizzeria. The Lions will then address these needs on the 2nd Monday of every month. The Lions Club needs help. As most organizations can relate, our group members have dwindled. We need people to come and volunteer to become members. If people are interested, please contact our president Sheila Holder at Capstar Bank or David Keating at Dad's Pizzeria.

Thank you,
The Waynesboro Lions Club

Wayne County General Sessions and Juvenile Courts open and safe in a manner consistent with the Covid Orders of the Tennessee Supreme Court. While presiding in court, I have always attempted to make the system friendly and understandable for all parties by explaining the process, and the parties' rights, at the beginning of each court sessions, and directing the parties through the process, to the extent allowed by the law, in order to promote a fair and just result in each case. I am proud of the programs implemented during my tenure, such as supervised probation services, drug testing, driving school, anger management, alcohol and drug counseling, domestic violence counseling, family mediation, financial responsibility classes and other similar services, to assist defendants address the problems which contributed to their court appearances. I am also proud these programs are taught by well-qualified instructors and self-funded by the attendance fees and/or grants. In civil court, I have implemented procedures and services, including settlement conferences and mediation, to help litigants resolve the issues in dispute by agreement, including payment plans, and avoid attachments, garnishments and/or judgment liens. In criminal court, I have implemented programs to ensure alternatives exist to incarceration, when legally justified, to help defendants overcome the problems which led to their criminal conduct. On the other hand, I have always made sure the individuals, who repeatedly commit crimes, commit violent or severe crimes and violate probation, are kept off our streets by punishing them with appropriate incarceration. In juvenile court, I have implemented procedures in cooperation with the Wayne County Board of Education, Tennessee Department of Children Services, Wayne County Youth Service Officer, Wayne County Probation Officer, and other agencies and individuals, to provide the best counseling and services available to address the child(ren), and their families, suffering from issues of truancy, dependency and neglect, unruly behavior, delinquent behavior and child abuse. On the other hand, I have always made sure the juveniles and their parents, who refuse to respect the law, and their obligations as child(ren) and/or parents, are detained and punished appropriately. In traffic court, procedures have been implemented to ensure alternatives exist to the accumulation of points and/or loss of driving privileges, and resulting higher insurance premiums, when legally justified, to help our citizens avoid higher insurance premiums and unnecessary loss of driving privileges. On the other hand, I have always made sure the individuals, who refuse to respect the privilege of driving, have their driver's license suspended and/or receive other appropriate punishment. In addition to the above-mentioned court improvements, I have made special efforts to serve on the Education and Legislative Committees of the Tennessee General Sessions Conference and Tennessee Juvenile and Family Judges Conference for many years, and I am currently the President-Elect for the Tennessee General Sessions Judges Conference for the year 2023-2024. My service on these committees, and pending service as TG-

SJC President-Elect, has allowed me to be involved in the drafting and implementation of legislation which effects our local legal and judicial system, and I have always strived to make sure such legislation has a positive effect on our county. I have served by designation of the Tennessee Supreme Court as a Special Judge for other counties, and this service has benefitted our county by allowing me, and my court staff, to observe the way other courts are attempting to address legal problems confronting their citizens and court systems. In 2011, I was inducted into the Tennessee Bar Foundation, and this organization allows me, along with the best attorneys and judges in the State of Tennessee, the opportunity to discuss and provide solutions to the legal issues and problems currently facing our county and state.

In the future, I will continue to work just as hard to serve the citizens of Wayne County in the same manner as I have in the past. The good ethical and moral values instilled in my heart and mind by God and my Family shall continue to guide my conscious in fulfilling my duties while serving you as your General Sessions Judge. For the foregoing reasons, I believe I am well qualified to continue serving the citizens of Wayne County, Tennessee, in this capacity, and I look forward to this opportunity to do so for you. I would greatly appreciate your vote and support on August 4, 2022. If we are not already acquainted, I look forward to meeting and getting to know you over the next few months. Thank you for your confidence and support.

Sincerely,
James Y. Ross, Sr.

- 3.) The photo must be original (i.e., not from a magazine or other publication). It's fine if you have already posted it on social media!
- 4.) Your photo must be submitted by email to news@waynecountynews.net. We unfortunately CANNOT accept photo submissions for this feature by mail or in person.
- 5.) Your email should include the photo, the photographer's name, a description of the photo, where and when the photo was taken, and a telephone number for the contact person regarding the photo.
- 6.) If your photo is chosen to be the "Photo of the Week," it

By David Coy, Sunrise Aftercare Coordinator/Counselor

Crisis, What Now?

There is a Chinese word which is made up of two terms that when combined together form the word for 'crisis.' The first term is said to mean 'danger.' The second, is said to mean 'change point.' As we reflect upon the journey with grief is it not trauma that each human life laments, and this human experience binds us all alike, regardless of our position in life, gender, or financial means. When we lose something or someone of high esteem it is indeed a time of crisis in our life, and a time of change. It is when we begin this journey we do well if we have in our support system first and foremost Jehovah, the God of all comfort and the Great physician (Luke 5:31; 2 Corinthians 1:3).

Built upon the foundation of Jehovah our greatest source of support is family and others. Though grief can be very painful the journey is less grievous when we have a strong support system that walks beside us. How we prevail is accepting the new reality and not shutting ourselves out of interaction with people, but living day by day with others. Learning to adjust without the previous life and build anew going forward is the next goal to achieve.

We cannot replace exactly what we lost, but we can achieve new goals and build new relationships or strengthen old ones in our new reality. This is where our grief support groups can provide an avenue of support outside of family and friends. Learning to share with others and giving others the opportunity to share with us strengthens our resolve to rebuild and renew. A threefold cord is not easily broken. There is strength in numbers and in groups. We do not need to be the same and frankly we are not, but we do share commonalities in our differences. Bear one another's burdens and our burden becomes lighter. ~David.

An unusual snow event crept across Middle Tennessee late Friday night into early Saturday morning last week. Although a March snow in Wayne County is not unheard of, it is certainly unusual!

Mrs. Peggy Chambers snapped this snowy pic in Collinwood early on Saturday while driving down Highway 13 South near Memorial Gardens/McGlamery Cemetery. Even though the snow was pretty on the trees and buildings, it fortunately didn't seem to cause many travel problems on roadways.

Thanks to Mrs. Chambers for our "Photo of the Week!"

Colorectal Cancer

During the pandemic, did you delay important screenings? Cancer of the colon or rectum often begins as noncancerous polyps. Detecting or removing these polyps before they become cancerous saves lives.

Doctors recommend colorectal screenings for those ages 45 or older and those at greater risk due to family history, inflammatory bowel disease or lifestyle factors, such as smoking.
