Waynesboro Family Loses Everything In Residential Fire Friday Night

A Waynesboro family sadly lost their home and all its contents after a fire broke out just before 8:00 p.m. on Friday night, June 24.

Family members stated that a minor child living at the residence belonging to David "Shorty" Horner and Shonda Blalock on Mumaw Road in the Beech Creek community first smelled smoke and then observed flames in the rear of the home at approximately 8:00 p.m. on Friday. The whole family was at home when the fire broke out, but everyone was able to escape without injury. Unfortunately, the home and all the family's belongings were a total loss with the exception of the clothes they were wearing.

The cause and origin of the fire are still under investigation. A GoFundMe page has been set up for donations for the family, or those wishing to help may call Kara Turnbow at 731-267-7067 for more information.

Hollis Academy: Continuing Thirty Years Of Excellence

Lige Hollis & Jason Crews

Hollis Academy, first known as Wayne Halfway House, began as Lige Hollis' vision in 1992. Lige had a vision of a place that would help change the lives of young men that had come from difficult circumstances – a place that would help these young men grow past their difficulties and become productive members of society. Originally just a 16-bed facility, Wayne Halfway House built on its original principles, adding staff and the capability to help even more youth until it became a 52-bed facility in 2002.

Jason Crews began a career in youth services much the same as Jason with wife Bridget and daughters Raegan and Karson.

Lige had – with a vision of helping young people overcome difficult circumstances. He envisioned helping young people turn into adults they and their loved ones could be proud of. Jason began his career as a residential case manager for the Department of Children's Services in 2000. His work with DCS led to his working closely with Lige at Wayne Halfway House, and that working relationship turned into a deep and lasting friendship between two men who not only had many common interests, but had a common goal – helping troubled youth. Lige eventually asked Jason to help him establish a program that would not only help young men resolve behavioral, social, and mental health issues, but more importantly, help them permanently exit dependence on "The System."

Meet The Candidates For Wayne Co. Executive, Sheriff

The office of Wayne County Executive will be filled after the election by one of two candidates: current Wayne County Executive Jim Mangubat, or Wayne County Commissioner Phillip Casteel.

This week in our "Meet The Candidates" series, we presented each candidate with three questions regarding their experience and their vision for the future of Wayne County. Below are our questions and the candidates' responses.

JIM MANGUBAT
WNCN: Mr. Mangubat, you have made the decision to run for re-election to the position of Wayne County Executive. What prompted you to run for re-election to this position?

Mangubat: We have so many projects on the table that I'd like to continue, with our local, state, and regional partners, to help bring to fruition including the Ag Center (major impact for Collinwood area), the Recreational facility and greenway plan (Waynesboro-funded by TN Dept of Health)- to help plan a youth rec facility I've wanted and pushed for since I've been in office, and support Clifton's efforts in building a state of the art water treatment facility to serve more residents in the coming years. Also, a new Head-Start Building which is in process. It is a $1.4 million dollar project using Federal, not County Funds. I want to continue the work on the Musician's Walk of Fame to increase Tourism. I want to continue bringing new educational programming to support our existing industries while giving our youth more opportunities, and support efforts underway to further develop our industrial parks in order to bring more high-quality jobs to Wayne County. So many, including myself, do not realize the years of planning that go into a project before a community begins to see progress. I believe we are at a tipping point and as long as we all continue to work together, despite our differences, we have many good days on the horizon.

Having lost his own father at the age of 15, Jason is quick to acknowledge Lige's influence in his life, which in turn has helped him to be a positive influence on the young men he works with on a daily basis. He says that Lige taught him a lot about being humble, and helped him to see that everything is not just black and white – there are many shades of grey in between.

After Lige's retirement in 2005 due to a prolonged illness, Jason Crews became President and CEO of Wayne Halfway House. The facility was renamed Hollis Academy in 2015 in Lige's honor. Lige passed away at the age of 69 on December 5, 2017.

In 2019, Hollis Academy expanded to include a facility in Nashville called Standing Tall Music City. The largest facility in the Hollis Academy family to date, Mountain View Youth Academy, opened in Dandridge, TN (near Knoxville) in 2020. Also opening in 2020 was Hollis Residential Treatment Center in Columbia, TN. Jackson Academy in Jackson, TN joined the family of facilities in October 2021.

C&B Linen was the first business that was actually co-owned by Lige Hollis and Jason Crews. In 2021, C&B Linen joined RaeKar Industries under the Hollis Academy business umbrella. Wayne Provision is one of the newest businesses in the Hollis Academy family, and facilitates foster care programs for the previously detained/incarcerated young men once they are released. "A lot of the progress made by these young men in our detention facilities can be completely lost when they are released," said Crews. "By providing foster homes for them to enter when they are released, we are at least offering them more help with introducing them back into society."

Crews said that his companies employ approximately 500 people at all the facilities combined. "A lot of these people have been with me for 15 or 20 years," he said. "And I am only as good as the people around me."

Crews explained how these young men arrive at the facilities, and what they do once they get there. He said that when they are arrested, they first go to a juvenile detention facility for up to 20 days. After the initial detention period, they are transferred to a facility such as Hollis Academy. The charges against the youth usually determine their facility placement, with less violent offenders usually being placed in Hollis Academy or a similar facility. Crews said that the Mountain View facility near Knoxville is where a lot of the youth end up who have more violent or higher level charges.

A day at Hollis Academy consists mostly of education. Hollis Academy has eight or nine teachers on staff at any given time, and the detainees are taught based on their assessed level upon arrival. Along with their daily schooling, the young men also have three meals, snacks, rest/quiet time, and different activities, such as swimming on Wednesday evenings. The schedule they are on is necessary for things to run smoothly, and to instill discipline in the young men as well.

As Jason Crews readily admits, things don't always run smoothly at the facilities.

The Mountain View Youth Academy was especially troubled, with the detainees literally setting the facility on fire in the months prior to Crews' company taking over. "Are things easy at any of our facilities?" said Crews. "Absolutely not, it's a challenge every day. But if we can just help a small percentage of these young people turn their lives around and achieve success, we are doing our jobs."

"The main principle of our business model is that if you don't care, you can't work here," Crews went on to say. "Each of our facilities has workers who must share the same core values and belief system – beliefs which are in turn expected of the young people detained in the

New Laws To Take Effect On July 1, 2022

July 1, 2022 not only marks the beginning of a new fiscal year, but it is also the date that many new laws will go into effect in Tennessee. From the state budget to public safety measures, the following is a list of some of the key legislation passed by the General Assembly in 2022 that will become law July 1.

Budget and Tax Relief

Budget — This year's no-debt budget highlights lawmakers' continuous efforts to cut taxes for Tennesseans, maintain fiscal responsibility, ensure public safety and prioritize education. Going into effect on July 1, 2022, it invests $52.8 billion in the state of Tennessee for the 2022/2023 fiscal year, with total legislative initiatives making up $84.1 million recurring and $570.8 million in non-recurring expenditures.

Removing license plate registration fee — From July 1, 2022 to June 30, 2023 Tennesseans will not have to pay the state's annual license plate registration fee of $23.75. This is a financial relief measure that will

K-12 Education

Blocking obscene materials on school computers — A new law was passed to ensure vendors that contract with schools comply with state law to prohibit pornography and obscene materials from school computers. It requires vendors to take steps to block any inappropriate content on school computers. If a provider fails to comply with the new law, then a LEA may withhold further payments to the provider and ultimately consider non-compliance a breach of contract. The law also requires each local board of education to establish a mechanism for parents to report a failure of the technology selected by the LEA to prevent access to harmful materials, and submit an annual report to the State Board of Education on the successes or failures of the technology.

Ensuring fairness in girls' sports / K-12 — The General Assembly approved a new law to enforce legislation passed last year that prohibits biological males from participating in girls' sports in public K-12 education institutions. The new law requires the Tennessee Department of Education to withhold a portion of state funds from public middle or high schools that fail or refuse to uphold state law and instead allow biological males to compete in girls' sports at public K-12 schools.

Taking action against abortion advocacy in public schools — A new law prohibits an LEA or public charter school seeking assistance in teaching family life from knowingly entering into an agreement with a person or entity that performs abortions, induces abortions, provides abortion referrals, or provides funding, advocacy or other support for abortions.

Criminal Sentencing / Public Safety

Truth in Sentencing — To protect victims of crime and provide true accountability for those who commit crimes, a new law requires a person convicted of certain offenses to serve 100% of the sentence imposed before becoming eligible for release. It ensures criminals convicted of eight different offenses would have to serve 100% of their sentence undiminished by any sentence reduction credits for which the person is eligible or earns. These eight offenses include: attempted first degree murder, second degree murder, vehicular homicide, especially aggravated kidnapping, especially aggravated robbery, carjacking, and especially aggravated burglary. A person convicted of one of these eight offenses could still earn credits that can be used for increased privileges, reduced security classification, or for any purpose other than the reduction of the sentence imposed by the court. Under the legislation, another 16 offenses require 100% of the sentence to be served unless the inmate earns a satisfactory program performance. In these cases, a person can receive credits for a GED or job training. These credits could be used for parole eligibility once a person has served a minimum of 85% of their sentence.

Cracking down on child abusers — A new law strengthens penalties for emotional and mental abuse or neglect of children at an unlicensed childcare facility. It addresses an incident in East Tennessee, when 23 children were found at an unlicensed childcare facility, in a garage and restrained in car seats and high chairs for most of the day. Because no physical abuse had occurred, the punishment for those operating this facility was not as severe as it should have been. The new law enhances the penalty to a Class E felony for any person operating an unlicensed childcare facility and found guilty of abuse, neglect or endangerment of a child.

Joe Clyde Daniels Act — Under a new law, convicted murderers will have a harder time being granted parole if they do not disclose the location of their victim's remains. The Joe Clyde Daniels Act requires the board of parole to consider the extent to which the offender obstructed or continues to obstruct the ability of law enforcement to recover the remains of the victim when determining cases involving an offender convicted of homicide. The bill was prompted by the disappearance of 5-year-old Joe Clyde Daniels from his home in Dickson on April 4, 2018. His father, Joseph Daniels, was convicted of murder in June. However, the child's remains have never been found. It helps ensure victims can receive a proper burial.

Human trafficking — To crack down on criminals who traffic children, a new law will expand the criteria for what qualifies as Class A felony offense of trafficking for a commercial sex act. Under the new law a trafficker will be charged with a Class A felony if the victim is under the age of 18. Under previous statute the victim had to be under 15 for the Class A felony charge to apply. It also creates a Class A felony offense of aggravated trafficking for a commercial sex act, and requires those convicted to serve 100% of any sentence imposed.

Protecting against sex offenders — A new law prohibits a sexual offender, violent sexual offender, or a violent juvenile sexual offender from renting or offering to rent a swimming pool, hot tub or other body of water used for swimming. Violating this law would be a Class A misdemeanor.

Health / Healthcare

COVID-19 visitation law — A new law ensures that those who live in nursing homes and assisted living facilities will be allowed to have visitors in end-of-life situations, even during a public health emergency for COVID-19. It stipulates that visitors must agree to follow safety protocols and cannot exhibit symptoms of COVID-19 or other communicable diseases, and cannot violate federal or state law regulating each facility. During the height of the COVID-19 pandemic too many Tennesseans were not able to be with their loved ones in their last days. This law ensures that won't happen again.

Transportation and Safety

Traffic safety — A new law allows a person convicted of speeding to take a defensive driving course within 90 days of their conviction in order to have up to 5 points removed from their driving record. This may be applied to only one speeding offense for each driving course completed and only once in a four-year period.

Increasing penalties for boating under the influence — To help keep Tennessee waterways safe, a new law increases penalties for boating under the influence. Called "Nicholas's Law," it makes a boating under the influence conviction equal to that of driving under the influence for the purpose of determining whether the offender is a repeat offender. In other words, if someone is convicted of boating under the influence and is later convicted of driving under the influence, they could be punished the same as if they were guilty of two DUIs.

Emergency Personnel / Law Enforcement / Correctional Officers

Expanding benefits for firefighters injured in the line of duty — Under previous law, the Barry Brady Act allowed firefighters to be eligible for workers compensation benefits for certain cancers. The act established a presumption that any conditions or impairments of full-time firefighters were caused by certain occupational cancers which occurred while on the job. Cancers covered are non-Hodgkin's lymphoma, colon cancer, skin cancer, and multiple myeloma. A new law passed by the General Assembly this year expands the list of cancers to which the presumption applies to include leukemia and testicular cancer.

Strengthening protections for police and service animals — Legislation known as Joker's Law passed this year to strengthen the penalty for anyone who harms a law enforcement or service animal in Tennessee. The new law increases the penalty for anyone who knowingly and unlawfully kills a police dog, fire dog, search and rescue dog, service animal or police horse. Offenders would now be charged with a Class B felony. Anyone between the ages of 14 and 17 who kills or causes serious injury to one of those animals could also be tried as an adult. Previously, killing a law enforcement service animal was a minimum Class E felony. The law is named in honor of Joker, a K-9 with the Bradley County Sheriff's Office who was seriously injured after being shot during a pursuit last year.

WCN: During these trying times, the economy is undoubtedly on everyone's minds, especially the great need our county has for job growth and recruiting new industries. If you are re-elected, what is your vision for the economic future of Wayne County, and do you have any specific plans to promote growth in jobs and industry?

Mangubat: Yes, we are a rural county with many challenges but we are a community of family, faith and support for one another and you simply can't buy or put a price tag on these things. We are seeing unprecedented growth in new residents and we welcome them into our community. Yes, these are difficult economic times but Wayne Countyans are known for their strength and resiliency and we will get through this too, together. All three cities are experiencing phenomenal growth and I applaud each for their fiscal strength and strategic planning efforts. My fellow county officials are also diligent in their work and accomplish quite a lot with few resources. My goal is to continue to bring more financial resources to these offices and agencies so they can continue to provide the public services we need, without adding greater financial burden to our citizens. As we work together to increase education and workforce opportunities, we must also address community needs like childcare, housing, and healthcare access. Again, through partnerships, we will alleviate these issues, too. I see progress with more to come and I want to continue to be a part of making Wayne County an even better place to live. This only happens by putting aside our differences and working together as one, united community. Five years we've received $3.9 million (2017- present) in grants through Tennessee ECD's Rural and Community Development programs. If we add in the year 2016 then it's 4.3 million total. This is just from TNECD and CDBG programming. Add to above grant dollars: Dept. of Health- 50,000 (Greenway/ Rec plan), Dept of Ag- 150,000 (Ag Center), USDA- 80,000 (Ag Center). Plus, contributions from the private sector- close to $100,000?

WCN: Please tell us more about your family, your personal beliefs, and what you feel are your best qualifications for public office.

Mangubat: I am a Christian and attend the Waynesboro First United Methodist Church. I have lived in Waynesboro since 1967. I am the oldest of four children of Dr. J.V. Mangubat and Ann Mangubat. I have been married for 41 years to Babs Estes Mangubat, my childhood sweetheart. I owned and operated for 30+ years a Respiratory and Home Medical Equipment Company serving the citizens of Wayne County and surrounding counties.

PHILLIP CASTEEL

WCN: Mr. Casteel, after serving several years as a member of the Wayne County Commission, you have decided to run for the position of Wayne County Executive. Can you tell us why you decided to run for this office?

Casteel: While serving as County Commissioner for sixteen years, I have grown to realize the true challenge that our county faces is a management problem and not a revenue problem. Thirty-three percent of our population pays all of the property taxes. I will work to find new sources of revenue to help lessen the burden on taxpayers. I feel that the entire county should be equally represented by the County Executive, and my door will be open to everyone. After serving as a Commissioner, I feel compelled to run for this office because the people of this county should know where their money is and how it is being spent. I would publish monthly financial reports of expenditures and receipts. Transparency is my goal. All meetings that I attend would be public and also aired live. My door would always be open. I have six grandchildren growing up in this county and I am tired of telling them about what we used to have and I want to show them how great this county can be.

WCN: During these trying times, the economy is undoubtedly on everyone's minds, especially the great need our county has for job growth and recruiting new industries. If elected, what is your vision for the economic future of Wayne County, and do you have any specific plans to promote growth in jobs and industry?

Casteel: I am currently working to keep taxes at the same level as last year. With the financial crisis facing everyone, oncoming recession, increasing interest rates, and impending poor crop yields, I feel that it is not the time to burden the taxpayer with increased taxes. Wayne County has sufficient revenue to fund the year with surplus. Because Education is a top priority, the County Commission has kept funding at last year's levels even though enrollment has dropped by 55 students this year. Also, I helped to get the Forestry Education Building built, saving over $15,000 in cost. This along with the Ag building that I also chaired will be a great addition to our Vocational Education in Wayne County and a new source of revenue. One major problem Wayne County taxpayers are facing is that a large percentage of the property inside the city limits is owned by the city, thus being tax exempt to the county. All of the cities in Wayne County need to work together to provide the best possible services and opportunities to Wayne County residents, safe drinking water is one such item. Collinwood city management has been offered 2.3 million dollars for waterline improvements in Collinwood, saving the county roughly $400,000 per year, but has refused. Clifton and Waynesboro have accepted the waterlines and are working with the county to better serve the residents of Wayne County. We worked to provide waterlines across Wayne County to establish infrastructure for industry. We will all have to work together, county, cities, and the people to recruit industry in this county. We have a great industrial park and I will do everything in my power to see that there is industry in that park. Government should be a servant of the people, not make the people servants. If elected, I would work to run an efficient, well-regulated county. Following are some of my top priorities: 1. Development of the southern route of Hwy 641, revitalizing the Clifton and Lutts areas; 2. Truck Route through Tie Camp Road, connecting Hwy 64 to Hwy 13, providing a business route to the south; 3. Septic sewer in the county Industrial Park, (6,000 gallon per day capacity); 4. Work to lower solid waste fees, which are one of the highest in the state; 5. Work to secure grants for industrial development in the county.

WCN: Please tell us more about your family, your personal beliefs, and what you feel are your best qualifications for public office.

Casteel: I am the son of the late Leon and Hazel Ayers Casteel. My father was a veteran of World War II and fought in the Battle of the Hurtgen Forrest. After his service, he returned to Wayne County where he married and raised me on the farm on which I reside today. There are hundreds of stories in Wayne County very similar to my own and that in itself makes rural Wayne County a special place. I married Teresa Andrews Casteel and we have two daughters, Kassy Quick and Laura Arnett. Kassy is married to Jason Quick, they have three children, Jaxson, Jacob, and Harper. They live in Waynesboro. Laura is married to Kodi Arnett, and they have three children, Harrison, Allie, and Henry. They live in Collinwood. I have raised my children with the values and moral compass passed down to me from my parents. I believe you should work hard to achieve your goals and to help others on your way. Helping neighbors and friends achieve their goals is as important as reaching your own. Establishing relationships with the people in our community and hearing their stories and helping their families thrive, helps all of our families thrive. My family attends Wayne Furnace Church of Christ. I am a life-long farmer, retired tool and die maker/industrial maintenance machinist, CO-OP Board Member, Ag Committee Member, and studied at Columbia State Community College. I have served on the County Budget Committee for sixteen years and I feel that I can manage this county's growth efficiently, laying the groundwork for future generations, including my grandchildren and yours. If elected, I will do my best to represent all of the people of Wayne County, uphold my oath, and do the job I am elected to do. I truly appreciate your support and vote.

The two candidates for Wayne County Sheriff are also featured in this week's "Meet the Candidates" series. Current Wayne County Sheriff Shane Fisher is seeking re-election to the position. He is being challenged by Timmy Dale Harris, who has previously run for the position as well and is currently with the Clifton Police Department.

Our questions and the candidates' responses are below.

SHANE FISHER

WCN: Sheriff Fisher, you are seeking re-election to the position of Wayne County Sheriff after serving your first term. What factors influenced your decision to run again?

Fisher: There are many factors that influenced my decision to seek re-election, just as the reasons I chose to initially run for the office. I have been a life-long resident of Wayne County, my children and grandchildren are growing up here, and I want them to grow up in the safest, most drug free environment possible. I want to offer my 28 years of experience in Law Enforcement and the experience gained since becoming your Sheriff September 1, 2018. I want to continue with the successes we have made and seek ways to fully implement needed changes we have identified in my first term.

WCN: The office of Sheriff carries a huge amount of responsibility to all citizens of our county. Are you personally satisfied with your abilities and actions as Sheriff for the past four years, and do you feel that you possess the qualities to continue to be successful in the position?

Fisher: To say I am satisfied with my abilities and actions as Sheriff is a difficult question for me to answer, anyone that knows me understands that I am not satisfied with any outcome short of perfection. We have accomplished many things in my first term, while dealing with challenges and incidents no previous sheriff has had to face; like the Covid 19 pandemic and losing three active-duty employees to death. However, we have made tremendous strides in reducing the availability and blatant open use of illegal drugs in Wayne County. We have investigated and prosecuted groups for their part in the distribution of illegal drugs, received numerous awards for our efforts, and took ownership of a property for an illegal marijuana grow and THC conversion lab. I have worked with the County Commission and Wayne County School Board to add School Resource Officers to better protect our most precious resources, our children. This was done while using zero tax dollars for the required matching portion to the grant. I currently serve on the School Resource Committee for the Tennessee Sheriff's Association. I was able to provide the Veterans Services a better vehicle to transport our beloved veterans to doctors and other necessary appointments at no cost to the veteran's service or county taxpayers. Your Wayne County Sheriff's Office inmate work crew has removed thousands of pounds of trash from county roadways and continued to assist fire halls, churches, and cemeteries with much needed mowing and clean-up duties. Inmates have assisted the County Highway Department, City of Waynesboro, and City of Clifton with workers saving hundreds of thousands of dollars for each city

(Continued From Page 5) and the county governments. I have worked with the Wayne County Commission to evolve the Wayne County Jail into the Wayne County workhouse. This allows inmates to get a job and earn wages to pay their court costs, fines, and child support while serving time for their convictions. I was able to work to acquire a grant to purchase a $100,000 x-ray body scanner for the Wayne County Workhouse to help prevent illegal contraband or weapons from entering the facility. Understanding the liability of the corrections environment and that a single wrong decision could devastate the County Government operations, potentially bankrupting our county, is part of the job that I do not take lightly. I have implemented much needed computer equipment into our patrol vehicles without using any county tax dollars. This equipment allows officers to stay in their patrol areas instead of having to return to the main office in Waynesboro to file reports. I have worked with the County Commission to add the Wayne County Sheriff's Office South Precinct to better serve our citizens in southern Wayne County, this improves response times for emergency calls and also allows deputies to stay in the patrol zones instead of having to travel to Waynesboro so often. I have implemented body worn cameras to increase transparency and professionalism by our patrol deputies. The body cameras were purchased without using county tax dollars. I have implemented two (2) narcotics detection canines to our force without using county tax dollars. I have upgraded our patrol fleet, which patrols about 400,00 miles each year, without using any county tax dollars. This focus on patrol and deputies staying in their patrol areas longer has resulted in lower property crime rates and better partnerships with the communities. During my term, I have routinely held community partner meetings in each area of the county to allow citizens to address their concerns and learn of the activities from the Wayne County Sheriff's Office. I have increased training for all employees of the Sheriff's Office as I believe training is an invaluable tool in becoming the most professional sheriff's office in Tennessee. I feel as I do possess, the qualities and just as important: the experience, to continue to lead and be successful as Sheriff of Wayne County. Understanding the entirety of the Office as a whole and how each part is integral to the success of the other is paramount when making decisions. I have worked to better educate myself with other sheriffs who have been successful and worked to implement needed changes in our operations at the Wayne County Sheriff's Office. I do believe I am the most qualified candidate and the only candidate with the education and experience necessary to manage the Wayne County Sheriff's Office.

WCN: What goals do you have for the future of the Wayne County Sheriff's Office, and what changes do you intend to make if you are re-elected?

Fisher: My future goals for the Wayne County Sheriff's Office are to continue to work to make the Wayne County Sheriff's Office the most professional and supported sheriff's office by its citizens in Tennessee. I will continue to work at reducing the availability of illegal drugs in Wayne County. If re-elected, I intend on transforming the acquired Sheriff's Office building on Chisholm Road (formerly Johnny's Club and illegal marijuana grow) into a Regional Training Center for every area of operation of the Sheriff's Office so that every employee can better serve the people of Wayne County. I intend to continue working with the County Commission to provide better pay and benefits for county employees, so that the Wayne County Sheriff's Office is a viable option for someone wanting to start, work an entire career for Wayne County, and retire, so our citizens can benefit from employees most productive years instead of being a training agency for others. This, to my knowledge, is something that has never happened at the Wayne County Sheriff's Office. As school safety is a top priority for me, I would like to completely staff every school with School Resource officers so that there would be an SRO at every school building. In my first term, a lot of changes were made, but I am always open to suggestions for improvements that will increase the Wayne County Sheriff's Office's ability to meet the needs of Wayne County's citizens.

It is the bidder's responsibility to have researched the title, legal description and to have physically examined the property being sold. NO survey has been performed on the property being sold and the Property Assessor's tax maps are not guarantee of the property description or amount of acreage. The highest bidders at such sale shall pay the amount of their respective bid to the undersigned immediately subsequent to such sale, and the purchasers shall receive certificates describing the parcels of the property purchased and the amounts paid for such parcels. The validity and finality of this sale is subject to a final determination that no person having property being sold in this tax sale is serving in the military service on active duty, which under The Soldier's and Sailor's Relief Act of 1940 and Service Members Civil Relief Act, would prohibit a tax sale. A tax sale that occurs in violation of these Acts' prohibition is not valid.

This notice of sale is given to all parties whose names are listed above, to all heirs, distributees or representatives of those listed who may be deceased and all parties owning or claiming to own any interest in respective real property described above. If you have previously been discharged from a Chapter 7 or 13 bankruptcy, this is not an attempt to collect the debt from you personally and service as notice of the upcoming sale as required by Tennessee Code Annotated, and/or the Federal Fair Debt Collection Practices.

Easy Ways to Encourage Your Kids to Get Active

Physical activity is good for children's bodies. It promotes growth and development and should be encouraged throughout the day for younger children. At least 60 minutes of activity a day helps older children and adolescents grow strong bones and muscles, build endurance and maintain a healthy weight. There's mounting evidence that moderate to vigorous physical activity also helps boost children's critical thinking skills, grade point averages and standardized test scores.

Plan time in your schedule for your children to engage in at least 60 minutes of physical activity each day, which can accumulate with shorter chunks throughout the day. Remember to praise, reward and encourage your kids' physical activity.

Physical Education: For healthy lifestyles, children need both free play and specific instruction on physical skills. An easy way for kids to meet this goal is by participating in physical education as part of the school day, when kids are in school.

Organized Activities: Adults or kids can organize active play. There are active indoor games such as Simon Says, and dozens of games to play outside — hopscotch, jump rope, dodge ball, Frisbee golf, badminton and volleyball. Depending on the season, plan trips to a local bowling alley, swimming pool or skating rink when those options are available.

Make Screen Time an Active Time: When going to play outside isn't an option, your children can play interactive video games that require physical activity such as tennis, bowling or baseball. You also can use dance videos and active video games for some physically-active television time.

Get Help with Household Chores: Encourage your children to participate in active outdoor chores such as raking leaves, pulling weeds, watering plants, sweeping the walks or cleaning the garage. Make the chores feel fun with upbeat music and be sure to join in to get them done as a family.

Be an Active Role Model: Present physical activity as an important time to take care of your body and health, rather than a chore. Find activities you enjoy and be active for at least 30 minutes five days a week. When your children see that you are enjoying time being active, they will be more likely to model your behavior.

greater than 80 degrees, cattle will not consume as much as they may need. Look into adding temporary stock tanks if you strictly pond water right now, as cattle are going to congregate in the ponds more right now and in turn will add more animal waste to their water source, which increases your chances of pathogens and toxins in the water. Blue-green algae is one you will want to keep an eye out for. If adding stock tanks is not an option, fence the pond off so that they only have access to a small portion of the pond for water. This is a recommended practice for watering cattle with ponds already.

- Provide adequate shade. Can your whole herd get in the shade? If not, you need to make it a priority to add shade in your pastures. This helps them reduce their heat loads!

- Do not work cattle in the evening or during the day. Only work them early morning when their heat load is at its lowest.

- Control flies! (hold your eye rolls—I know this is a challenge!) It takes extra energy to combat flies. USE MULTIPLE CONTROL METHODS and WAIT until fly populations are 200 or more/animal before treating. Ear tags alone will not work. Ear tag both ears, including calves, if label indicates it, use pour ons, sprays, rubbers, oilers, and/or minerals. Be sure to use the SAME CHEMICAL CLASS among ALL control methods! Next year, use a different chemical class. If you're using the same chemical class you've used every single year, you should probably consider changing it now. Homemade and store-bought fly traps can be helpful in reducing fly loads as well. Please reach out to me to talk more about fly control methods if you have questions.

- Avoid weaning calves right now
- Remove bulls from the herd. Fertility is poor in hot weather and this will prevent your bull from chasing open cows and causing more stress to the cows and the bull.

- Make notes of any cows who are showing poor heat tolerance in comparison with the others in your herd. She may be one you want to cull as heat tolerance is a genetic trait.

Be sure to also make a note of this weather event for your records. If you notice many open cows during calving season, it could be linked to this hot, dry spell.

If you have any questions, please reach out Megan Harris at 931-722-3229 or mdharris@utk.edu.

Nosey Thrives At The Hohenwald Elephant Sanctur

Care Staff at The Elephant Sanctuary have enjoyed watching African elephant Nosey develop natural elephant behaviors as she has explored her habitat over the last four years as a resident of The Sanctuary.

Nosey was wild-born in Zimbabwe, then captured and brought to the United States, where she traveled with a family circus as the sole elephant performer for 29 years. She retired to The Sanctuary in November 2017 after being seized by an animal control officer in Lawrence County, Alabama, due to signs of animal abuse. Since then, Nosey has thrived in her spacious habitat, with freedom of choice and access to individualized veterinary and husbandry care.

Recently, caregivers were able to capture videos of Nosey digging deep mud holes and downing trees. Though they have witnessed her partaking in these activities before, Nosey's curiosity when caregivers come around usually means she stops what she is doing to investigate them instead, making it rare to catch these behaviors on film!

Elephants like Nosey down trees to dine on the leafy branches and nutrient-dense bark, which in the wild, keeps the savanna open and grassy for other animals to live from. They also utilize mud to keep the bugs away, cool their bodies, and as a natural sunscreen to protect their skin from the summer rays. The freedom to express these natural behaviors is crucial to each elephant's well-being and a fundamental part of care at The Sanctuary.

Everyone is pleased to also see Nosey's ever-growing confidence as she continues to build trust with her caregivers and seek out social opportunities with her companion, Sissy. To see more of Nosey, Sissy, and the other elephants at The Sanctuary, check out The

Tick-Borne Disease Detected in Neighboring County Beef Herd

A beef herd in Maury County has positively identified Theileria Orientalis Ikeda infection. This is a protozoan disease that affects red and white blood cells. It is transmitted by the Asian Longhorned Tick (ALT) and causes severe anemia in cattle. Once an animal is infected and if it survives, it will be a carrier for Theileria for life and a source of infection for other cattle in the herd. There are no indications that this disease affects human health or the beef product itself.

Cattle producers should be vigilant in scouting their herds. You can minimize risk of transmission by keeping cattle out of the woods, keep pastures clipped short (greater emphasis on pastures that border woods), and utilize acaricides (pesticide that treats for ticks). Do not reuse needles! This is already our recommendation, but many still replace a needle for every 10 animals. It is crucial right now to use a clean, new needle per animal.

Clinical signs of Theileria orientalis Ikeda are very similar to anaplasmosis. Clinical findings include weakness, reluctance to walk, and abortion. Physical examination may reveal pale mucus membranes, high fever, and elevated heart and respiratory rates. If you notice ANY signs, quarantine the animal and contact the State Vet's office at 615-837-5120. The TN Department of Agriculture is testing blood samples for Theileria for free until July 29, 2022. You can also submit tick samples to the State Vet's office for testing.

The diligence of every cattle producer cannot be understated. It takes all of us doing what we can to avoid an outbreak.

UT has more detailed information on this disease online at <https://tiny.utk.edu/Theileria>. You can also find information from the State Vet online at <https://tiny.utk.edu/Theileria-TDA>.

Heat Stress on Cattle

I don't have to tell you how hot it is outside right now. It looks like the heat is here to stay, and many of our cattle are going to be susceptible to heat stress. Majority of the cattle breeds in our region do not dissipate heat well. During weather events like we are facing, cattle accumulate a heat load during the day and it will dissipate at night. Severe heat stress can cause issues within our herd. With that in mind, here are some tips to help your cattle through the heat:

- Water, water, water. Cool, fresh water is crucial. You can expect a cow to drink 2 gallons/100 pounds of body weight a day under these conditions. That can be around 25-30 gallons per animal per day! If water temperatures are

TIMMY DALE HARRIS

WCN: Officer Harris, you have previously run for the position of Wayne County Sheriff. What factors influenced your decision to run again?

Harris: When there's things going on in Wayne County that I don't agree with or can improve on I'll do all I can to make a difference. I was contacted by several citizens with concerns about the high budget and all these new Tahoes at the sheriff's office. I also found out there was 71 employees left the sheriff's office from 2018 till the present. That is unacceptable for a budget to go up a half a million dollars and lose that many employees in four years. I'm running again to lower the budget and try to hire and retain good employees and make Wayne County a safer place to live.

WCN: The office of Sheriff carries a huge amount of responsibility to all citizens of our county. What qualities do you feel you possess that would make you a successful Sheriff in all different aspects of the job?

Harris: I'm a life-long citizen of Wayne county so I know the people already. I've owned and operated my own successful business so I can do the budget and I am a leader. I've been in law enforcement for almost fifteen years. In those years I've had to fight a very few subjects because I can talk to them and they do what's right. The less violence we have to use the better but if it's necessary I'll do what is needed. I take the words serve and protect very seriously. I don't care where you live, how much you're worth or what your name is, you are our #1 priority! Every call will be answered as quickly and as safely as possible. I did say every call, not just certain ones.

WCN: What goals do you have for the future of the Wayne County Sheriff's Office, and what changes would you make in the department, if any?

Harris: I plan on having professional deputies and correctional officers. The investigation department will keep every victim updated on their case weekly. Every employee of the Wayne County Sheriff's Office will treat all citizens with honesty, fairness and respect. There will be some big changes inside the department starting with the administration. Every deputy and correctional officer that works there now will still have a job if they want one. I guarantee the new department will be much more efficient and the budget will come down. That way the burden of higher taxes won't be on the Wayne County citizens.

The county offices up for election this year are County Executive, Trustee, General Sessions Judge, Circuit Court Clerk, County Clerk, Register of Deeds, Road Superintendent, Sheriff, County Commissioner Districts 1-7, and School Board Member Districts 2, 5, and 7. All of these offices carry a four-year term.

Three seats on the Waynesboro City Commission are on the ballot - only the three incumbent commissioners seeking re-election. Three seats on the Wayne County School Board will be on the ballot as well.

Several seats on the Wayne County Board of Commissioners will be on the August ballot, some of whom are running unopposed to retain their seats. Interestingly enough, some members of the same families will be competing for a seat on the board.

Several seats will be on the ballot for the State Primary Election, including District Attorney General, Public Defender, and Circuit Court Judge. A seat in the State of Tennessee House of Representatives 71st District will be on the Primary ballot as well, with two Wayne Countians, Jason Rich and Mitchell Skelton, competing against candidates from Summertown, Mt. Pleasant, and Columbia.

This State Election is a Primary Election, which determines who will be on the ballot in the State General Election on Tuesday, November 8.

Wayne County Museum Committee May Meeting

The Wayne County Museum Committee met for their monthly meeting on May 9, 2022 at the Wayne County Museum. However, this regular meeting turned into a very special event!

As always, President Staggs' mission is to find hidden treasures throughout our county. He does not disappoint himself, or the committee, and this meeting was no exception. Two very unique individuals with a rich musical background joined the committee for a night of storytelling and entertainment.

President Staggs introduced Tonya Holly - a musician, a film producer, and a publisher just to name a few of her accomplishments. Her mother, Virginia Strickland, also a musician, has been featured in the stories from Tonya, her mother, and the committee members were enjoyed by everyone. Tonya and her mother promised a return visit very soon with items for display.

The business session began with a financial report from Jerry Duren. No minutes were read at this meeting.

President Staggs has scheduled volunteers for each day of the week in order for the museum to be open Monday through Friday. Volunteers are still needed. Hours are 10am - 4pm. If interested, call the museum at 931-722-2256 or Floyd Staggs at 931-722-3789.

The car show was discussed. Lytle Smith will be making ice cream for this event. Elsie Hobbs and Babe Staggs will be assisting at the park.

Those attending were President Staggs, Tonya Holly, Virginia Strickland, Lytle and Mary Smith, Garry and Ava Barnett, Jerry and Erma Duren, Eddie Thompson, Elsie Hobbs, and Dean Stegall.

Collinwood Bass Teams Finish Successful Season

ship, and 53rd place on the season with a total 207 team of the year points.

Both the High School and Junior High Bass Teams are to be commended for a safe and successful season of experience!

That's a wrap on the 2021-22 season for the Collinwood Bass Teams! High school team members Xander Daniel and Harrison Rich fished hard for two very long days on Kentucky Lake. After boating only one keeper on day one for 2.38 pounds, they came back on day two boating three fish for 5.30 pounds. Day two looked to be another tough day for the duo as they had only boated one keeper by noon, but they landed two more keepers later in the day.

The junior high teams had a successful 2021-22 season as well! Maddie Brown and Tate Linville weighed a five-bag limit for a solid 7.93 pounds to finish in 17th place! That included a 3.78 pound kicker boated by Tate Linville. They finished the season in 35th place overall with a total 251 team of the year points. They had a great season for their first year.

Patch Craig and Bennett Rich weighed two fish for a total combined weight of 2.85 pounds, placing them in 52nd place in the state champion-

A SALUTE TO THE

Waynesboro, Collinwood & Clifton Dixie Youth Teams Supplement to The Wayne County News

Dixie Youth, This Is Our History

Dixie Youth Baseball was organized in the State of South Carolina in 1955. The name of the program in those days was Little Boys Baseball. In 1958 the name was changed to Dixie Youth Baseball.

There were four men who met to form a new baseball program. They began with only a dream of something that would be different from other youth baseball organizations. They had no financial backing from any organizations, just their beliefs that their goals were attainable and would meet the recreational needs of the youngsters and families within their communities. Danny Jones and Matt Goyak were Recreation Directors in North Charleston and Georgetown. Bill Hearsh, Recreation Director for the City of Columbia joined in this effort, and Tom Linton, an attorney and a coach in one of the Columbia Leagues became the fourth member of this organizational team for the new program. The recreation professionals began the process of developing a set of playing rules, policy & by-laws for the program, while the attorney devoted his attention preparing the necessary paperwork, completing all the forms to incorporate the program in the State of South Carolina. They were successful in this effort. Little Boys Baseball Inc. became an official baseball program with the four incorporators, Matt Goyak, President, Bill Hearsh, Vice President, Danny Jones Commissioner-Treasurer, Tom Linton, Secretary. Bill Hearsh served in this position for a short period of time and left the program in 1956 and J. Newton Jones was elected Vice President.

While the program was established in South Carolina the founders anticipated it would be a program that would serve the needs of that State, but interest from adjoining states in this new program grew quickly. The 1956 season began and leagues were franchised in the states of Alabama, Virginia, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Florida. The first Little Boys Baseball World Series was played in Alexandria, Louisiana. The Greenville South Carolina team won this first World Series.

The most fundamental intent of Little Boys Baseball, Inc. was to develop a program which would emphasize local autonomy. They believed that the workers and parents in the local programs and would know what was best for them and their children. Customs will vary from community to community and leagues may establish policies for the operation of their local program. There are basic fundamental rules each league must follow, but the local autonomy for each league is still very much a part of the program today.

The program began with the belief that the leagues who are affiliated should have a voice in the running of the program. There is an established procedure for the election of the national board members from the leagues within each state. Each State has an equal number of members on the national board, and each board member serves for a term of three years. All leagues within the program has one vote, and a league official may only vote for one league.

Any individual who serves in an official capacity with Dixie Youth Baseball may submit a suggested rule or policy change. This proposed change must be submitted by June 1st to the Office of the Deputy Commissioner. The National Board of Directors will consider the proposed rule or policy change at their annual meeting.

Tournament play is always considered to be an exciting part of any baseball season. Dixie Youth Baseball offers tournaments from Sub-District to World Series play. All tournaments are double elimination tournaments. Any league that joins Dixie Youth Baseball is immediately eligible for tournament participation. Dixie Youth Tournaments are awarded on an invitational basis. Any Dixie Youth league is eligible to host a tournament. For information concerning tournament requirements the league should contact their nearest Dixie Youth official. Dixie Youth Baseball has an excellent scholarship program. The program began in 1961 when two scholarships were awarded in the amount of $750.00. One scholarship of $500.00 and one of $250.00.

To be eligible for a scholarship the applicant must be:

- a: A high school senior
  - b: Have played Dixie Youth Baseball while he or she was 12 years of age or younger
  - c: Get an official Dixie Youth Baseball scholarship application.
- The are available on line, or from a Dixie Youth official. They are very simple to complete & fill out
- d: Mail the completed application to the correct address by March 1st.

Little Boys Baseball began with a very different and unique plan when compared with other youth athletic program. While the name was changed, this has not changed with Dixie Youth Baseball, everyone in the program is a volunteer. From the National President, National Board Members, National Commissioner, coaches, workers in the leagues, they all are volunteers. There are a couple of ladies in the National office who are paid secretaries, but everyone else gives of their time to make this program serve the families in eleven states. Because of what they do, it continues to be a success.

Dixie Youth Baseball now has three World Series. There is the AAA World Series. This Series is for players. 10 years of age and under. There is also the Majors Division Series. This Series is for the 11 & 12 year old players. It has been in past years that the AAA Series and the Majors Series have been played together, same date & location. In 2006 the Board of Directors approved the addition of the O Zone World Series. This is for the 11 & 12 year old players. The difference is the base distance is 70 feet, and the pitching distance is 50 feet. The game is "open bases" with the runner leading off the base, balks called on the pitcher and regular baseball rules.

The year was 1955. Four men sat & discussed and planned for a youth, baseball program. Today you and I live in a new century and we enjoy the efforts of their planning. The name of the program has changed, thankfully the purpose & goals have remained the same.

The History Of Dixie Softball

have enjoyed and benefitted from participating in DIXIE SOFTBALL.

DIXIE SOFTBALL has gone through a number of changes since it began but NEVER did the purpose of DIXIE SOFTBALL ever change: making sure that the girls had a FUN softball program where ALL play-

Hank Aaron: "The Legend"

"My motto was always to keep swinging. Whether I was in a slump or feeling badly or having trouble off the field, the only thing to do was keep swinging."

"I'm not trying to make anyone forget the Babe; but only to remember Hank Aaron."

"Making the majors is not as hard as staying there, staying interested day after day. It's like being married. The hardest part is to stay married."

In 1968, a genesis of softball for girls ages 5-18 began in the small community of Minor, Alabama. It grew till in the fall of 1975, a group of men and women in Alabama met for the expressed purpose of taking the genesis began in Minor and expanding the existing Dixie Girls Softball program in Alabama to the other states that at that time made up the "DIXIE" program: Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North & South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia.

These people, all volunteers which continues even today, continued to meet and work throughout the winter of 1975-1976, bringing in additional youth leaders to lay out plans for the first summer of play adopting the name of DIXIE SOFTBALL, INC. Even though Dixie Softball is its official name, the names of "Dixie Girls" and "Dixie Youth" are commonly used.

Starting in Alabama, in the spring of 1976, with 39 leagues and 351 teams, DIXIE SOFTBALL has now spread throughout the South and its membership now includes hundreds of leagues and thousands of teams which means thousands upon thousands of girls

ers MUST participate; local leagues control their own program; all rules established specifically for the age of the player; low fees; boundaries and population rules that guarantee as level of a playing field as possible for all leagues; and a tournament series at the end of the season that would culminate with the crowning of World Series Champions.

"I never smile when I have a bat in my hands. That's when you've got to be serious. When I get out on the field, nothing's a joke to me. I don't feel like I should walk around with a smile on my face."

"Didn't come up here to read. Came up here to hit."

"The pitcher has got only a ball. I've got a bat. So the percentage in weapons is in my favor and I let the fellow with the ball do the fretting."

"I like those lefties, but when you're hitting, all pitchers look alike. I don't care too much who's throwing or what he throws. When my timing is off, I have trouble; when it ain't, I don't."

"You got to play a hundred and fifty games a year, so pick your spots. You can miss two games a month; so pick the days you're gonna be hurt, or you're gonna rest. The rest of the time, be on that field."

"The thing I like about baseball is that it's one-on-one," Aaron said. "You stand up there alone, and if you make a mistake, it's your mistake. If you hit a home run, it's your home run."

"I never thought home runs were all that exciting. I still think the triple is the most exciting thing in baseball. To me, a triple is like a guy taking the ball on his

1-yard line and running 99 yards for a touchdown."

"In playing ball, and in life, a person occasionally gets the opportunity to do something great. When that time comes, only two things matter: being prepared to seize the moment and having the courage to take your best swing."

"Failure is a part of success. There is no such thing as a bed of roses all your life. But failure will never stand in the way of success if you learn from it."

"I had just turned 20, and Jackie told me the only way to be successful at anything was to go out and do it. He said baseball was a game you played every day, not once a week."

"I'm hoping someday that some kid, black or white, will hit more home runs than myself. Whoever it is, I'd be pulling for him."
